SUPREME COURT OF INDIA

PUBLICATIONS DIVISION
MINISTRY OF INFORMATION AND BROADCASTING
GOVERNMENT OF INDIA

About Us

Publications Division, Ministry of Information and Broadcasting is among the premier publishing organisations of the Government of India. Established in 1941, it is mandated to bring out books and journals on issues of national importance and make them available to people at an affordable price. Publications Division has been publishing non-fiction books and journals on diverse aspects of Indian panorama, ranging from art and culture, land and people, flora and fauna, biographies of the Builders of Modern India, Cultural Leaders of India, India's history, Freedom movement, children's literature among many other subjects.

Books on Gandhian literature hold the place of pride for Publications Division with several books on Gandhian thought including the Collected Works of Mahatma Gandhi (CWMG) in 100 volumes, published in English and Sampoorna Gandhi Vangmaya in Hindi. The CWMG, considered the most comprehensive and authentic collection of Gandhiji's writings, is now also available as a digital searchable PDF.

Publications Division, in association with Rashtrapati Bhavan, has published a series of high quality books on various aspects of Indian President's official residence and its functioning.

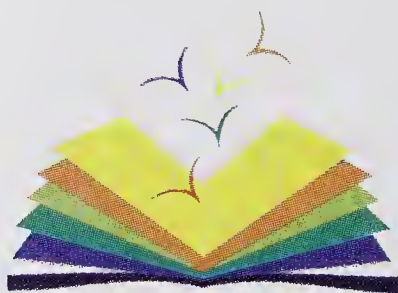

In sync with its tradition to reach out to people at different parts of the country, using different languages, Publications Division has embarked upon scheme of bringing out multiple Indian languages' editions of its existing books. This is Publications Division's contribution towards the spirit of Ek Bharat Shreshtha Bharat - bonding India through books in around 15 regional languages.

Publications Division also brings out 18 monthly journals and a weekly newspaper. The flagship journal Yojana (Established:1957) serves as a forum of discussion and dissemination of development issues. It is published in Hindi, English and 11 other languages.

Kurukshetra (Established: 1952), published in English and Hindi focuses on the topic of Rural Development. Ajkal (Established: 1945) is a literary and cultural magazine in Hindi and Urdu. Bal Bharti (Established: 1948) is children's magazine; and 'Employment News' (Established: 1977) is a weekly journal that provides information on employment and career opportunities in Central Government /PSUs/ Autonomous organizations in Hindi, English and Urdu.

With a view to cater to the demand of new-age readers Publications Division is now producing electronic books of its select titles, and making them available through e-commerce platforms. Many prominent books on the lives of important National leaders and books on rich Indian culture and heritage have also been published as eBooks. These eBooks support a number of user friendly features like highlighting, searching, bookmarking, noting, and text to speech. The eBooks can be bought from Google Play and Amazon online platforms.

Publications Division has developed a portal to sell its selected publications, printed journals and weekly newspaper Employment News online through bharatkosh.gov.in payment gateway. The popular weekly journal 'Employment News' has also been launched in a digital format. It can be subscribed at www.en.eversion.in
